Impact Statement

This workshop helps Toastmasters strengthen their leadership presence by learning to communicate their achievements with clarity and confidence. Many speakers struggle with self-promotion due to modesty norms or fear of appearing boastful—a challenge the #IAmRemarkable approach directly addresses by reframing self-promotion as a fact-based leadership skill.

Through guided reflection and practical speaking exercises, participants learn to recognize their value, share their impact authentically, and overcome internal and external biases that hold their voice back. They leave better equipped to elevate their communication, amplify their influence, and step forward with greater confidence—on stage, at work, and in their communities.

Key Takeaways

- Recognize and articulate personal achievements clearly
 - Understand barriers to self-promotion and how to overcome them
